

display unit, and has a second display portion that displays a second pattern overlapping with the first combination pattern; and a control unit for controlling a shape of the second pattern to control overlapping display of the second pattern and the first combination pattern.

32. The game machine of claim 31, wherein the second pattern is composed of a plurality of second patterns each of which overlaps with a corresponding one of the plurality of first patterns.

* * * * *